PROJECT MANAGEMENT

Managing project work and teams for businesses and other organisations.

The Project Management Apprenticeship is aimed at those managing projects which are defined and delivered within different contexts, across diverse industry sectors. These projects may be large or small and varying in value.

You will develop knowledge and skills relating to governance, stakeholders, leadership, finance and managing resources and people.

Dependent upon the size of the organisations and the complexity of projects, associate project managers' job titles will vary, but typically they can include assistant project manager, junior project manager, project team leader. Some organisations use 'project manager' as a generic job title.

The apprenticeship will also focus on key behaviours such as collaboration and teamwork, driving for results and integrity, ethics, compliance and professionalism.

HOW WILL THE TRAINING BE DELIVERED?

This apprenticeship programme will focus on 3 areas of learning and development: Knowledge, Skills & Behaviours.

We have replicated what we have learnt on the pitch and applied it to the corporate world. We will embed our corporate athlete tactics, supporting your mental focus, physical capacity, emotional connectivity and aspirational alignment, allowing you to thrive in the most challenging circumstances.

HOME OR AWAY?

Delivery is within the workplace and at the home of your organisation, however you will be invited to masterclasses at our inspiring stadium or other similar sites, away.

It is expected that you will spend 20% of your contractual working hours undertaking learning and development. Reasonable time for training while at work should be given and may include reflection, mentoring and the development of new skills while at work.

HOW WILL I KNOW THE PROGRAMME IS RIGHT FOR ME OR MY COMPANY?

An advisor will discuss job roles, career aspirations and organisations' operational needs, to ensure the right level and programme is chosen. In addition, there will be an initial starting period of analysis, called a Flying Start, where advice and guidance may suggest a different learning path to excellence.

WILL THERE BE AN EXAM?

Yes, apprentices will be formally assessed at the end of their programme by an Independent Examiner. The assessment of competence will include several assessment methods, such as a presentation, written exam, project or professional discussion supported by a portfolio of evidence. The exams may be conducted at the workplace or at another location. Alongside this you will also be expected to complete IPMA project management qualification at Level D.

ENGLISH AND MATHEMATICS

If you don't already hold GCSE level A*- C or equivalent in either of these subjects, your programme will include teaching and examination of Level 2 Functional Skills.

You will be required to achieve a Level 2 to complete your apprenticeship.

THE NEXT STEPS

Learners can progress onto an Advanced or Higher Apprenticeship in a vocational expertise in Management.

Available courses:
Level 5 Management, Chartered Managers Status or Higher Education.
